

RAJ SOIN HALL

A proposed multipurpose hall at Delhi Technological University will be named for Rajesh K Soin alias Raj Soin

A proposed multipurpose building (under construction) at Delhi Technological University (Formerly Delhi College of Engineering) will be named after an Indian American philanthropist Dr. Rajesh K Soin (an alumnus of 1969 batch of Mechanical Engineering; DCE/DTU) now Chairman and CEO of Soin LLC at Ohio USA.

The University administration has decided to name Raj Soin who made a hefty contribution of Rs. 5 crores for the construction of “RAJ SOIN HALL”. This is for the first time in the history of DCE-DTU that an alumnus has contributed such a big donation. University has already received more than 50% contribution towards the construction of Raj Soin hall. As per Dr. Soin “I am very encouraged to see all the new infrastructure opportunities at DTU and look forward to see the new developments”. The entire alumni affairs team is very happy to rebuild the relationship with the illustrious alumni of this great institution.
